En Route With President Harding's Funeral Train, Aug. 4.—Bearing as its precious freight the nation's illustrious dead, shrouded in sorrow and weariness, the special funeral train carrying President Harding's body to Washington was speeding across Nevada today.

Almost every mile of the way from San Francisco has furnished evidence of the nation's sorrow. All through the night, as the train plunged on at a speed equalled only by a crack overland flyer, men, women and children could be seen standing along the tracks, the men bareheaded and all wearing a reverent look.

The flag-draped casket rests in the same car in which the late president journeyed across the continent on his way to Alaska. At its head and foot the guard of honor—two soldiers and two sailors—stand rigidly at attention. As the presidential funeral train crosses the full breadth of the bereaved country, millions will observe its passing. In the lighted car there is a profusion of flowers.

Simple Rosewood Coffin

There is a simple rosewood coffin, with Warren Gamaliel Harding inscribed on its small silver plate. It is guarded by soldiers, sailors and marines, chosen from the detachments that accompanied President Harding on the Henderson. The train will not pause for ceremony. It will proceed at a slow pace thru towns and cities. Only for switching requirements will it halt before reaching the capital.

The crowds that stood in the night were obviously moved by the passing of the president, for they made no sound. They stood in mute respect as the train with the coffin in the last car sped by.

In the same car was the brave and tragic figure of Mrs. Harding, facing still several days of need to keep up the fight on her grief, still too much, in the public eyes, to be allowed to go away by herself with her sorrow.

It was impossible for Mrs. Harding to rest as she needs to rest. Her nerves are too unstrung for quiet sleep, her heart throbbing too painfully, the wound too new to permit her the repose that she should have. But her spirit was unbroken, her poise unimpaired. Mrs. Harding gives new evidence almost every hour of the magnificence of her courage.

Other members of the party, worn out with grief and loss of sleep, rested today.

Mrs. Harding's Magnificent Courage

It was the magnificent courage of Mrs. Harding that caused all arrangements for the first simple funeral services and for removal of the president's body from the hotel suite in San Francisco to the train to pass as smoothly and with such dignity as Mr. Harding could have wished.

During all the trying time since she awoke from an exhausted disturbed sleep into which she finally sank after midnight on the night of the president's death, Mrs. Harding "saw it through." It was her calm self-control that made it possible for the others to play their parts in the hurried arrangements for departure without having to worry about how the president's wife would act. She arose and directed the arrangements for the funeral services in the Palace Hotel.

Her quiet thoughtfulness made it wonderfully easy for those who were considerate of her.

The doctors and nurses who attended her marvelled at the will with

Three Grave Problems Face Pres. Calvin Coolidge

PRESIDENT OF THE ILLINOIS AERO CLUB VISITS CAPT. FAWCETT

Charles Dickinson, president of the Illinois Aero club and prominent Chicago business man, flew from Chicago to Breezy Point lodge on Big Pelican lake and there visited Captain William H. Fawcett, noted aviator and trap shooter. Mr. Dickinson boarded the "Whiz Bang" sea sled and with Captain Fawcett steamed down at a 35 mile an hour gait to Henry B. Babson, Chicago millionaire, who has a wonderful lake estate on Big Pelican lake.

Dickinson won renown when he accompanied Pilot Stinson in his eight and a half hour flight, Chicago to New York.

Dickinson flew to Minneapolis last night where he will attend the Aero club dinner.

which she came back to the world from which her husband had suddenly been taken and arose and dressed and went about the necessary planning for the services.

On the arm of George Christian, who had been President Harding's secretary, the late executive's wife entered the little sunlit parlor where the party had gathered late yesterday afternoon to pray a while for their friend who lies in the simple rosewood coffin with its draping of flags.

Mrs. Harding was in mourning, but not an over-emphasized mourning, just a simple black dress and a black hat with a wide brim. Her face was composed. She stood upright while the clergyman's voice went on—"Man that is born of woman."

It was when the prayer began that Mrs. Harding's emotion first made itself visible. Tears welled in her eyes, but Mrs. Jennings slipped quickly to her side and took her hand, and there was no break-down in the service. A moment later Mrs. Harding had herself completely in control.

Faithful to Husband's Trust

The secret of Mrs. Harding's marvelous display of thoughtfulness for others in her hour of trial and of indomitable courage through her grief was derived from her husband, friends said. Several times during the day she went with woman friends, the president's sister and others to look down at the remains of the late executive as they lay in the coffin. Mrs. Harding commented to her friends upon how firm and peaceful her husband's features were in death and the fact that the mouth displayed no vacillation. She was proud of her husband's record and of him as a man and she was trying to carry on in the trying period as he would have wanted her to do.

The extreme simplicity of the coffin, the services and ceremonies necessarily incidental to the moving of the remains to the railroad station, everything arranged by Mrs. Harding, was as simple as the president would have wished it. In this, as in everything else that she did, Mrs. Harding was faithful to her husband's trust.

PILOT ENGINE PRECEDES THE FUNERAL TRAIN

Sparks, Nev., August 4.—President Harding's funeral train passed through here, moving slowly, and bareheaded crowds gathered and stood on the station platform at 6 a. m. today.

The train was preceded at 5:45 a. m. by a pilot engine and coach which will run 15 minutes ahead of the funeral train across the continent.

WOODROW WILSON AT FUNERAL CEREMONIES

Washington, Aug. 4.—Woodrow Wilson is expected to take a prominent part in the funeral ceremonies for President Harding.

Col. C. O. Sherill, military aide to the president, announced after a conference with President Coolidge that arrangements were being made for the participation of Mr. Wilson.

St. Paul, Aug. 4.—Governor J. A. O. Preus today refused to honor Wisconsin extradition papers for Dr. H. A. Muns, Minneapolis dentist who confiscated a patient's teeth when the latter refused to pay a bill.

Dr. Muns drove to New Richmond, Wisconsin, and called on W. A. Chapman, patient, for whom he made a set of false teeth. Chapman refused to pay the $18 bill, claiming the teeth did not stay in his mouth. Dr. Muns took the teeth and turned to his car. He was pursued but escaped across the state line, outdistancing a deputy.

Later Dr. Muns returned the teeth with the suction cups attached. The job was worth $3, and they went C. O. D. Dr. Muns collected the $3. He is still out the $18, he said, but he will stay out of Wisconsin.

DIETZ SAYS 'VICTIM' WAS NOT KILLED

CAMERON DAM 'DEFENDER' DE-CLARES HE HAS PROOF THAT WILL CLEAR HIM

Rice Lake, Wis., Aug. 4.—John P. Dietz, of Cameron Dam fame, who has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Herman Voight of this city since his release from Waupun prison, claims to have proof in his possession that Oscar Harp, for whose death he was convicted, was not killed, and that the box supposed to have contained the body of the slain man was filled with some heavy substance. He also said that no person accompanied the body as required by law, and that the casket was never opened before being placed in the cemetery.

Dietz recently made a visit to the Poplar Hill cemetery at Rock Elm, in Pierce county, where the records show that Harp was buried, and notified the officials of that place that an effort would be made to obtain a permit to exhumate the body.

Dietz served in prison from 1916 until 1920, when he was pardoned.

RUHR CRISIS AFFECTED BY DEATH OF HARDING

London, Aug. 4.—To British officialdom, one of the disappointing effects of President Harding's death on international politics is the probable delay in mobilizing world opinion as to the Ruhr and the final reparations settlement with Germany. One of the most important results of yesterday's debate in the house of commons was expected to be an immediate reaction from the allied countries and the United States approving or disapproving Premier Baldwin's statements. With the American nation in mourning, it is realized that the expressions of American opinions will be delayed.

(By United Press)

San Francisco, Aug. 4.—The Matsun Maru, a Japanese liner, and the French freighter Alaskan collided off the light ship outside the Golden Gate today. The two ships struck a glancing blow in a heavy fog. Both were slightly damaged, but came into port under their own steam. No passengers or members of the crew were injured.

CALLING ARMS PARLEY AMONG "HIGH SPOTS" IN HARDING REGIME

Washington, Aug. 4.—These constituted the "high spots"—in the events of the Harding administration:

Re-establishment of peace with Germany and Austria.

The calling of the arms conference which approved the naval limitation treaty and the four-power Pacific fleet.

Ratification of the treaty with Colombia resulting from participation of Panama.

Revision of the taxes tariff law.

Restriction of immigration.

Farmer aid legislation with particular reference to easier credits on more liberal terms.

Establishment of the budget bureau.

Veto of the soldiers' bonus bill.

Extension of the program of aid for wounded, sick and disabled veterans of the World war.

MRS. HARDING HAD DEATH PREMONITION

Mrs. Harding had a premonition that the arduous duties of the presidency might lead to her husband's death. On June 10, 1920, two days before his nomination, while she was awaiting information of the results of the balloting at Chicago, she said:

"I am content to bask in my husband's limelight, but I cannot see why anyone should want to be president in the next four years. I can see but one word written over the head of my husband if he is elected, and that word is 'tragedy.'"

"As a matter of fact, I would rather have him senator than president. Benign senator and being a senator's wife is really a wonderful life. Of course, now that he is in the race and wants to win, I must want him to, but now in my heart I am sorry."

MORSE ACQUITTED IN COURT TODAY

Washington, Aug. 4.—Charles W. Morse, ship builder and financier, charged with defrauding the shipping board on war time contracts, was acquitted by a jury in District of Columbia supreme court today.

The three sons of Morse and four other men, held under the same indictments, were also acquitted.

ABOLISHING STEEL WORKERS' 12-HOUR DAY

One of the last great things which absorbed the attention of the late President Harding was the abolishing of the 12-hour day for steel workers. He showed his interest in this branch of labor by constantly urging the shorter day.

President Harding inaugurated a series of conferences and a study of the steel industry and requested E. H. Gary, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute and chairman of the United States Steel corporation to undertake an investigation to ascertain the feasibility of eliminating the long hours.

At the May meeting of the Institute a report was brought in by a committee that shortage of labor made impossible the institution of the shorter day.

President Harding expressed his disappointment and again entered into correspondence on the subject. On August 2, shortly before the president breathed his last, executives of the United States Steel corporation, subsidiaries and independent steel companies represented in the American Iron and Steel Institute took immediate steps to eliminate the 12-hour day in the iron and steel industry.

The labor world can erect no more fitting monument to Harding than to let this act of the president dwell in the heart of every worker in this nation!

REVENUE FUND OF MINNESOTA SAID TO BE OVERDRAWN

DEFICIT OF $2,262,619 DUE TO HEAVY OVERDRAFTS OF LEGISLATURE

STATE SCHOOL AID FUND DREW
MOST OF THE MONEY SO
APPROPRIATED

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Aug. 4.—The revenue fund from which Minnesota's state expenses were paid is overdrawn $2,262,619.

This was made known today in the report of the state treasurer for the fiscal year ending August 1.

The deficit is due to heavy drafts made upon the fund by the last legislature. Overdrafts on the fund were almost as much as the state made by collections from gross earnings taxes during the spring, according to Geo. LaFond, accountant in the treasurer's office.

Returns from the gross earnings and the new occupation tax this year will not efface the overdraft, according to Mr. LaFond. About $3,000,000 is expected from the gross earnings tax in September and about $5,000,000 from the occupation tax, but in October the state must pay out $5,000,000 as state aid for schools.

The deficit is due to the large amounts appropriated by the last legislature to cover the deficit in the state school aid fund, it is said.

DIXIE MOURNS LOSS OF A TRUE FRIEND

RECALLS FACT HARDING 'BROKE
THE SOLID SOUTH' IN 1920
ELECTION

Atlanta, Aug. 4.—The south mourned the death of a true friend in the passing of President Harding. Many recalled the four visits which Mr. Harding made to this section after his election to the presidency, pointing out also that he "broke the solid south" in 1920, when Tennessee cast its electoral vote for him by a big majority. His vote in several of the other states in 1920 exceeded by thousands that which had been given to republican candidates in many years.

Mr. Harding spent some weeks in Florida between election and his induction into the office of president. Scores of leading citizens of the south met him and Mrs. Harding while they were in St. Augustine, Fla.

It was in that stay that the president picked the members of his cabinet and considered measures which were brought before congress after he had assumed the presidency.

PROTESTS POUR IN OVER PREUS NAMING AVERY SUCCESSOR

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Aug. 4.—Protests from sportsmen's organizations continued to pile up today over the appointment of Major J. F. Gould to succeed Carlos Avery as state game and fish commissioner.

Governor Preus announced the appointment yesterday, three days after the term of Carlos Avery expired. The Isaac Walton League of America, in a telegram, had urged the reappointment of Avery. The Ramsey County Sportsmen's association and other organizations added their protests.

Major Gould has been prominent in political circles, and was secretary of the republican state central committee in 1920 and 1922. He has been a member of the Minnesota National Guard for the last three years.

HARDING CABINET MEMBERS TO REMAIN

San Francisco, Aug. 4.—Members of President Harding's cabinet who are here will accede to the wish of his successor, President Coolidge, that they retain their portfolios.

As a matter of form and custom, the cabinet members would be expected to submit their resignations to the new president, permitting him to make any changes in his official family he deemed desirable.

Mr. Coolidge, however, made it known immediately upon assuming office that he desired all Mr. Harding's department heads to stand by. The assumption is that he wants them to help him carry out the Harding policies.

EXPECT TO CAPTURE "MAD MURDERER"

(By United Press)

Sauk City, Wis., Aug. 4.—Capture of the "mad murderer" of Sauk City, thought to be responsible for the death of four persons within the last year, is expected to come within 48 hours. Lead by private detectives from Milwaukee and Chicago, cordons of heavily armed men converged about a point where the slayer is known to be hiding.

For 24 hours sheriffs possees, bloodhounds, private detectives and anxious crowds of farmers have combed the country about his hiding place.

LAND MERCHANT'S DAUGHTER DISAPPEARS

(By United Press)

Minneapolis, Aug. 4.—Mystery surrounds the disappearance last night of Isabel Farmer, 30, daughter of a wealthy land merchant, of Minneapolis.

She carried a large sum of money and valuable jewels. Her car was found wrecked and partly burned in an excavation in St. Paul. A man was alone in the car when it was wrecked but fled from the scene of the accident.

Police fear she may have been the victim of bandits.

MEXICO RECOGNITION STATEMENT NEAR

Washington, Aug. 4.—It was indicated at the state department today that an important announcement bearing upon the recognition of the Obregon government of Mexico may be expected momentarily. Earlier reports which gained a wide circulation were to the effect that an announcement would be made at the department late yesterday, but it was officially intimated that a few details remained to be arranged before any statement could be made.

Department officials admit that the deliberations apparently have reached the final stage.

INTERNATIONAL, DOMESTIC STATUS AND POLITICS TOO

THE INTERNATIONAL SITUATION
TALKED OF AS MOST SERI-
OUS SINCE 1894

EVERY NATION IN EUROPEAN CRISIS LOOKS TO AMERICA
FOR AID

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 4.—Three grave problems faced Calvin Coolidge as he took over the duties of the thirtieth president of the United States today.

1. The international situation—with Europe's condition generally believed steadily worse, what will the United States do to stave off a final crash?

2. Domestic affairs—to continue and complete the task begun by President Harding of setting the government in order after the great dislocation of the war.

3. The political situation—with an open season for all presidential candidates now foreseen as the result of Mr. Harding's death.

The international situation is talked of by politicians and diplomats as the most serious since 1914.

Mr. Coolidge comes into office with every nation interested in the present European crisis looking to the United States for aid or guidance. Every foreign chancellery is wondering what effect the ascendancy to the presidency of Calvin Coolidge will have on American foreign policy.

One of the most serious international questions facing Mr. Coolidge is the Ruhr and reparations crisis. Then, when the United States has successfully contributed to world peace by the terms of the Washington disarmament conference, President Coolidge will find the nations abroad engaged in greater armament raising than ever.

Another question of international policy which has had an important reflex in the American political situation is President Harding's advocacy of the country's participation in the world court. Will Mr. Coolidge sponsor the world court as strongly as did Mr. Harding, it is asked here today.

The gravest domestic question that greets the new president is the economic crisis facing the American farmer. With wheat having gone below $1 a bushel, the agricultural bloc in Congress is prepared to demand that the plight of the farmer be given first and favored consideration.

President Coolidge, himself a "farmer," is expected by members of this bloc to view this problem sympathetically.

AUGUST 10 IS MADE DAY OF MOURNING

Washington, Aug. 4.—President Coolidge in his first proclamation, delivered today, declared August 10 a day of national mourning for the late President Warren G. Harding. On that day, he said, the people should gather at their respective places of worship and engage in ceremonies befitting the occasion.

WILL PRESERVE THE STATUS QUO

Temporary White House, Willard Hotel, Washington, Aug. 4.—All matters of national policy and government will stand temporarily as they are, President Coolidge announced today in his first conference with newspaper men.

No changes will be made, nor any public commitment of the new administration, until after the funeral of President Harding has been completed.

St. Paul, Aug. 4.—The revenue fund from which Minnesota's state expenses were paid is overdrawn $2,262,619.

This was made known today in the report of the state treasurer for the fiscal year ending August 1.

The deficit is due to heavy drafts made upon the fund by the last legislature. Overdrafts on the fund were almost as much as the state made by collections from gross earnings taxes during the spring, according to Geo. LaFond, accountant in the treasurer's office.

Returns from the gross earnings and the new occupation tax this year will not offset the overdraft, according to Mr. LaFond. About $3,000,000 is expected from the gross earnings tax in September and about $5,000,000 from the occupation tax, but in October the state must pay out $5,000,000 as state aid for schools.

The deficit is due to the large amounts appropriated by the last legislature to cover the deficit in the state school aid fund, it is said.

DIXIE MOURNS LOSS OF A TRUE FRIEND

RECALLS FACT HARDING 'BROKE
ELECTION

Atlanta, Aug. 4.—The south mourned the death of a true friend in the passing of President Harding. Many recalled the four visits which Mr. Harding made to this section after his election to the presidency, pointing out also that he "broke the solid south" in 1920, when Tennessee cast its electoral vote for him by a big majority. His vote in several of the other states in 1920 exceeded by thousands that which had been given to republican candidates in many years.

Mr. Harding spent some weeks in Florida between election and his induction into the office of president. Scores of leading citizens of the south met him and Mrs. Harding while they were in St. Augustine, Fla.

It was in that stay that the president picked the members of his cabinet and considered measures which were brought before congress after he had assumed the presidency.

PROTESTS POUR IN OVER PREUS NAMING AVERY SUCCESSOR

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Aug. 4.—Protests from sportsmen's organizations continued to pile up today over the appointment of Major J. F. Gould to succeed Carlos Avery as state game and fish commissioner.

Governor Preus announced the appointment yesterday, three days after the term of Carlos Avery expired. The Isaac Walton League of America, in a telegram, had urged the reappointment of Avery. The Ramsey County Sportsmen's association and other organizations added their protests.

Major Gould has been prominent in political circles, and was secretary of the republican state central committee in 1920 and 1922. He has been a member of the Minnesota National Guard for the last three years.

HARDING CABINET MEMBERS TO REMAIN

San Francisco, Aug. 4.—Members of President Harding's cabinet who are here will accede to the wish of his successor, President Coolidge, that they retain their portfolios.

As a matter of form and custom, the cabinet members would be expected to submit their resignations to the new president, permitting him to make any changes in his official family he deemed desirable.

Mr. Coolidge, however, made it known immediately upon assuming office that he desired all Mr. Harding's department heads to stand by. The assumption is that he wants them to help him carry out the Harding policies.

EXPECT TO CAPTURE "MAD MURDERER"

(By United Press)

Sauk City, Wis., Aug. 4.—Capture of the "mad murderer" of Sauk City, thought to be responsible for the death of four persons within the last year, is expected to come within 48 hours. Lead by private detectives from Milwaukee and Chicago, cordons of heavily armed men converged about a point where the slayer is known to be hiding.

For 24 hours sheriffs posse, bloodhounds, private detectives and anxious crowds of farmers have combed the country about his hiding place.

LAND MERCHANT'S DAUGHTER DISAPPEARS

(By United Press)

Minneapolis, Aug. 4.—Mystery surrounds the disappearance last night of Isabel Farmer, 30, daughter of a wealthy land merchant of Minneapolis.

She carried a large sum of money and valuable jewels. Her car was found wrecked and partly burned in an excavation in St. Paul. A man was alone in the car when it was wrecked but fled from the scene of the accident.

Police fear she may have been the victim of bandits.

MEXICO RECOGNITION STATEMENT NEAR

Washington, Aug. 4.—It was indicated at the state department today that an important announcement bearing upon the recognition of the Obregon government of Mexico may be expected momentarily. Earlier reports which gained a wide circulation were to the effect that an announcement would be made at the department late yesterday, but it was officially intimated that a few details remained to be arranged before any statement could be made.

Department officials admit that the deliberations apparently have reached the final stage.

INTERNATIONAL, DOMESTIC STATUS AND POLITICS TOO

THE INTERNATIONAL SITUATION
TALKED OF AS MOST SERIOUS
SINCE 1894

EVERY NATION IN EUROPEAN CRISIS LOOKS TO AMERICA
FOR AID

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 4.—Three grave problems faced Calvin Coolidge as he took over the duties of the thirtieth president of the United States today.

1. The international situation—with Europe's condition generally believed steadily worse, what will the United States do to stave off a final crash?

2. Domestic affairs—to continue and complete the task begun by President Harding of setting the government in order after the great dislocation of the war.

3. The political situation—with an open season for all presidential candidates now foreseen as the result of Mr. Harding's death.

The international situation is talked of by politicians and diplomats as the most serious since 1914.

Mr. Coolidge comes into office with every nation interested in the present European crisis looking to the United States for aid or guidance. Every foreign chancellor is wondering what effect the ascendancy to the presidency of Calvin Coolidge will have on American foreign policy.

One of the most serious international questions facing Mr. Coolidge is the Ruhr and reparations crisis. Then, when the United States has successfully contributed to world peace by the terms of the Washington disarmament conference, President Coolidge will find the nations abroad engaged in greater armament raising than ever.

Another question of international policy which has had an important reflex in the American political situation is President Harding's advocacy of the country's participation in the world court. Will Mr. Coolidge sponsor the world court as strongly as did Mr. Harding, it is asked here today.

The gravest domestic question that greets the new president is the economic crisis facing the American farmer. With wheat having gone below $1 a bushel, the agricultural bloc in Congress is prepared to demand that the plight of the farmer be given first and favored consideration.

President Coolidge, himself a "farmer," is expected by members of this bloc to view this problem sympathetically.

AUGUST 10 IS

MADE DAY OF MOURNING

Washington, Aug. 4.—President Coolidge in his first proclamation, delivered today, declared August 10 a day of national mourning for the late President Warren G. Harding. On that day, he said, the people should gather at their respective places of worship and engage in ceremonies befitting the occasion.

WILL PRESERVE THE STATUS QUO

Temporary White House, Willard Hotel, Washington, Aug. 4.—All matters of national policy and government will stand temporarily as they are, President Coolidge announced today in his first conference with newspaper men.

No changes will be made, nor any public commitment of the new administration, until after the funeral of President Harding has been completed.

Chiropractic for Kidney Trouble

Chiropractic has proven very efficient in cases of kidney trouble. When there is a pressure on the nerves leading to the kidneys, there is bound to be trouble more or less. Have this pressure taken off by a Chiropractor who will use his bare hands alone and adjust the small bones of the spine which are out of place. When this is done the vital force flows uninterruptedly to the kidneys, which then function normally. Consultation, spinal analysis and booklets free.

James Kirkwood, star of the stage and the screen with his bride, who was Lila Lee, also a film star. Kirkwood, 40 years old, was married twice previously. Miss Lee is only 18 and entered the ranks of film stardom only a short time ago.

English Girls to Emigrate.

For approximately 100 years prior to the World war England had done little for her young women, especially those faced with the necessity of earning a living. Spasmodic efforts had been made to help the young men who wanted to migrate to the colonies, but the young women had been virtually ignored. Today, largely owing to the remarkable service rendered by women during war times, and also due to the fact that England has 2,000,000 more women than men, the interests of the women are being given attention.

Miss Gladys Pott, whose activity on behalf of English women has gained the admiration and confidence of the British empire, has been named a member of the British overseas settlement delegation, now on its way to Australia. She says it is a bad idea to populate a new land with young men unless you send some nice girls to the same place. If the girls find husbands—and there are many potentially good husbands among the settlers in Australia—so much the better, she thinks.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Chances of Longevity.

Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, diagnostician and author, says, "The 'average' person does not stand the best chance of living long. The man or woman who weighs 20 or 30 per cent below the average has the best chance for long life. It is safe to say the average individual reaches the ideal build at thirty. If he can keep near that build for the rest of his life, he increases his chances of longevity."

QUART OF WATER A DAY HELPS KIDNEYS

When Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Also Take a Little Salts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from about any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may

Fifty-Fifty for Progress

The big obvious need of this country today is psychological—the disposition to go ahead. We have here a vast ability to produce, and a vast ability to consume the products of industry. Potentially, Supply and Demand are pretty well matched. The main trouble is that people don't demand enough things to justify industry in doing its utmost to produce.

The result is that a great amount of energy is being spent on trying to get a lion's share of the existing demand, and not enough is spent on trying to create the demand so there will be enough to keep everybody busy supplying it.

This brings about a period of keen competition. It means that everybody must work harder and accept less in order to overcome the sales resistance of a curtailed demand.

Demand is largely a created thing. The actual needs of humanity are only a fraction of the general demand. It is always a simple matter to get along with less than one would like to have. When the public gets a streak of economy it curtails the demand for everything that is produced.

Advertising is a prime mover in creating business. It rouses people out of lethargy, makes them want to live more fully, and to possess the means of living more comfortably and more enjoyably.

When sales are hard to get, then most people who have things for sale increase their efforts to sell. The harder they try to sell, the harder their competitors try to sell. But no amount of selling effort—in the usual sense of the word—can create demand; it can only take advantage of the demand that has been otherwise created.

Advertising and Selling ought to be considered as "fifty-fifty" in importance. Advertising creates the consumer demand. Selling connects this demand with the supply. Each needs the other to make its work complete.

MOB VIOLENCE VERSUS NATIONAL POLICY

ISMET PASHA has refused to pledge Turkey to the protection of minorities. In refusing to permit a single line to be included in the Lausanne treaty concerning the protection of minorities, the Turkish leader called the attention of Representative Joseph B. Grew of the United States to the fact that minorities are not protected in America where, almost every week, Negroes are burned at the stake and where extreme societies are forever threatening minority groups.

By a strange coincidence the newspapers which carry the dispatch telling of Ismet Pasha's refusal to pledge protection for minorities and of his criticism of America, because of its failure to protect minorities, carry an account of the burning of a Negro at Myrtleville, Mississippi. However, there is a great difference between mob action, pursued by a group of people who have become enraged over an assault upon womanhood, and a national policy which, by declaring its refusal to protect minorities, invites aggression on the part of those who will the extermination of those they dislike. But there is something to be said for Ismet Pasha's position that brings condemnation to the United States. The Turks have dealt hardly with minorities because they dislike the people who make up these minorities, just as the whites in the southern states treat the Negroes to mob violence because they do not like the Negro. In both Turkey and the United States the cause of the violence lies in a sense of superiority in those who constitute the majority.

It is true that there are few lynchings in the northern states but that does not free the United States as a whole, and the northern states as a part of the union, from responsibility for the lynchings practiced in the southern states. There was a time when the north interfered with the south, and the cry went out that the country could not remain half slave and half free. It is equally true that this nation cannot remain half tolerant and half intolerant, half law respecting and half law violating. Despite our western ideals there are things in our civilization that bring a blush to the faces of true citizens, who are grieved when an appeal to the leaders of peoples of another religion for the welfare of an unprotected minority is met with an invitation to practice nationally what we preach internationally. The best thought and conscience of America must be directed to removing the blemishes from the organized life of a republic, which comes nearer the ideal than possibly any other on earth, in the principles on which it is founded, but which knows a strange divergence from those principles in life as lived and expressed. Those movements that oppose freedom of speech, freedom of press, freedom of assemblage, freedom of thought, and religious and political equality, must be repressed by those Americans who see that they are subversive of true Americanism. And majority opinion in America, which during recent years has sought to make minorities conform to its standards and creeds, must be made tolerant of the viewpoints of the minority if this nation is to escape from becoming a mediocrity of commonplaceness, colorless because of its similarity. Intolerance is not American whoever is motivated by it, whether he be descended from the founding fathers or an arrival on the last immigrant ship. The genius of America is its recognition of the rights and privileges of others—even of disliked minorities—and any departure from that spirit is a departure from the first principles of this republic.

MODIFIED IMMIGRATION RESTRICTIONS

It is announced that the state of Minnesota, through the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, has asked for a modification of immigration restrictions. This proposal, which has been submitted to the president, has for its object supplying the farmers of the state with strong and capable laborers at a lower rate of compensation.

In the light of what happened in England recently, where the farm laborers of Sussex went on strike for a higher wage, which the farm owners admitted they ought to have, but which because of depression they could not pay, the government should hesitate before supplying cheap farm labor to Minnesota or any other state. By providing this labor, the government will enable the farmers to produce more for a market that will not consume their produce and their later state will be worse than their former.

This is another of the remedies proposed to help the farmer, and the proposal, while it would relieve the shortage of competent agricultural laborers, would invite the farmer to sow an increased acreage with the result already mentioned. Just at the time when this proposal is made a business man who looks at the whole question from the standpoint of business economics suggests that some farmers go into industrial plants and become consumers of the produce of those who remain on the land.

All kinds of theories are submitted to help the farmer, and many of them would not aid him one little bit, nor can we see how this one would. It seems to suggest a circle; more laborers, more crops, deeper markets, a release of the laborers engaged in agriculture and an increase in the unemployed in the cities. It is not an advantage to the farmer to supply him with labor that he does not need to supply the market. It is not of advantage to labor to bring in immigrants to force down the cost of labor, when with the labor at hand the farmer is producing more than the market will consume, and it is not good for America to bring in men who will be disappointed by what they find here, who through their disappointment will become enemies of the republic. More men are made communists by conditions than by propaganda. When conditions plow furrows in a man's forehead his head is receptive to communist or any other radical propaganda.

KILLING THE GOOSE THAT LAYS THE GOLDEN EGGS

THERE is an old adage that says something about killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. What it stands for is often done by intelligent people and those who read of their doings cannot quite see evidence of their intelligence. And yet it is done. France is doing it in the Ruhr, where, it is said, the cost of maintaining her hold of this valley was forty million dollars in six months. Nations that refuse to trade with other nations are doing it, and groups and individuals are forever killing this wealth-producing bird.

It is announced that the Illinois Manufacturers association

intends to call a meeting to make plans for killing the goose. The manufacturers are grieved because labor is receiving high wages which they claim are the maximum part of the cost of what the farmer buys, and, therefore, they plan to force down wages so that the farmer may purchase what he needs at a reduced cost.

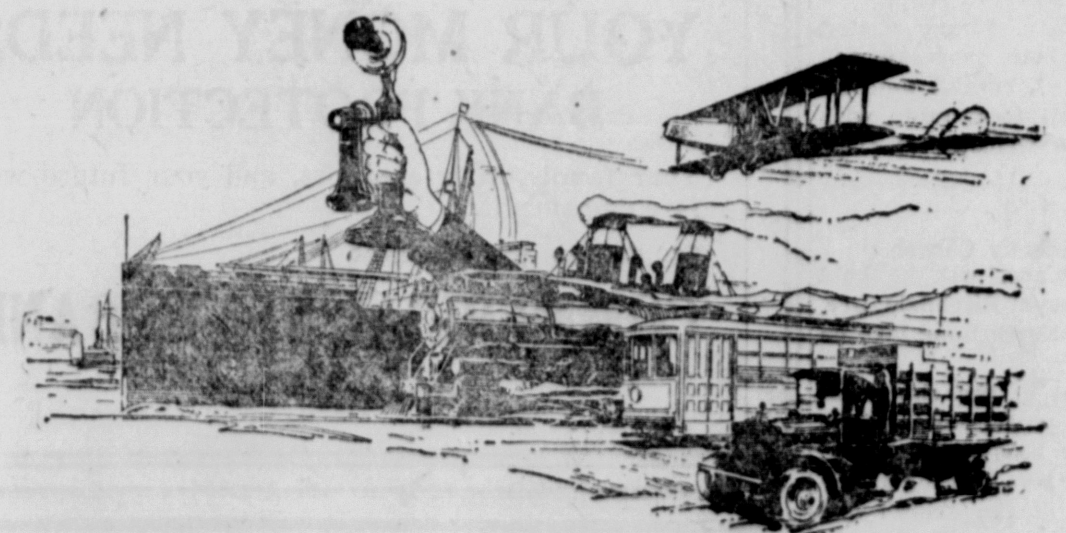

The wisdom of such a program does not appear on the surface. If the farmer buys equipment cheaper he will buy more of it, and surely he does not need to produce more than he is at this time and this would be a natural tendency with more efficient machinery for doing the work. Again, the farmer depends very largely on the consumption of the American public, and it is predicted that he will depend more upon this in the future than he has in the past. If this is true, the workers, who are the mass of the American public, must have money if they are to buy the farmers' products. One would think after reading such a proposal that the workers of the nation were insignificant when considered as consumers of agricultural produce, when the fact is that they are the consumers. A millionaire eats no more than a ditch-digger; the only difference in consumption lies in the fact that the millionaire often consumes imported foodstuffs that lend variety to his menu and do not help the American farmer to dispose of his surplus.

One of the silliest theories ever propounded is the theory that the farmer will be helped if the wages of labor are reduced. Of course it will be said that a laborer's wage, which is above that required to afford existence, is not spent in buying agricultural produce but in luxuries. There is something to the argument, as there is to the fact that a millionaire eats no more, and spends no more for what he buys from the farmer, because his income has been raised from one million to two. It cannot be denied that a laborer's family spends much more on agricultural produce when his wages are high than they do when they are low. There are too many men, who have had a very low wage on which they have attempted to exist, and whose standard of living has been raised by an increase in wages, for such a proposal to get far in America. Such propagandists must think that the American people are fools, while their own economic intelligence is not shining forth very brightly in such cleverly camouflaged propaganda which would use the farmer's discontent to cut the farmer's own throat, in an economic sense.

BOWLING, an old English sport, is in vogue in American parks. It may win a few fans over here but it won't set the public wild; like cricket it's too slow for the American temperament.

MOB VIOLENCE VERSUS NATIONAL POLICY

ISMET PASHA has refused to pledge Turkey to the protection of minorities. In refusing to permit a single line to be included in the Lausanne treaty concerning the protection of minorities, the Turkish leader called the attention of Representative Joseph B. Grew of the United States to the fact that minorities are not protected in America where, almost every week, Negroes are burned at the stake and where extreme societies are forever threatening minority groups.

By a strange coincidence the newspapers which carry the dispatch telling of Ismet Pasha's refusal to pledge protection for minorities and of his criticism of America, because of its failure to protect minorities, carry an account of the burning of a Negro at Myrtleville, Mississippi. However, there is a great difference between mob action, pursued by a group of people who have become enraged over an assault upon womanhood, and a national policy which, by declaring its refusal to protect minorities, invites aggression on the part of those who will the extermination of those they dislike. But there is something to be said for Ismet Pasha's position that brings condemnation to the United States. The Turks have dealt hardly with minorities because they dislike the people who make up these minorities, just as the whites in the southern states treat the Negroes to mob violence because they do not like the Negro. In both Turkey and the United States the cause of the violence lies in a sense of superiority in those who constitute the majority.

It is true that there are few lynchings in the northern states but that does not free the United States as a whole, and the northern states as a part of the union, from responsibility for the lynchings practiced in the southern states. There was a time when the north interfered with the south, and the cry went out that the country could not remain half slave and half free. It is equally true that this nation cannot remain half tolerant and half intolerant, half law respecting and half law violating. Despite our western ideals there are things in our civilization that bring a blush to the faces of true citizens, who are grieved when an appeal to the leaders of peoples of another religion for the welfare of an unprotected minority is met with an invitation to practice nationally what we preach internationally. The best thought and conscience of America must be directed to removing the blemishes from the organized life of a republic, which comes nearer the ideal than possibly any other on earth, in the principles on which it is founded, but which knows a strange divergence from those principles in life as lived and expressed. Those movements that oppose freedom of speech, freedom of press, freedom of assemblage, freedom of thought, and religious and political equality, must be repressed by those Americans who see that they are subversive of true Americanism. And majority opinion in America, which during recent years has sought to make minorities conform to its standards and creeds, must be made tolerant of the viewpoints of the minority if this nation is to escape from becoming a mediocrity of commonplaceness, colorless because of its similarity. Intolerance is not American whoever is motivated by it, whether he be descended from the founding fathers or an arrival on the last immigrant ship. The genius of America is its recognition of the rights and privileges of others—even of disliked minorities—and any departure from that spirit is a departure from the first principles of this republic.

MODIFIED IMMIGRATION RESTRICTIONS

It is announced that the state of Minnesota, through the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, has asked for a modification of immigration restrictions. This proposal, which has been submitted to the president, has for its object supplying the farmers of the state with strong and capable laborers at a lower rate of compensation.

In the light of what happened in England recently, where the farm laborers of Sussex went on strike for a higher wage, which the farm owners admitted they ought to have, but which because of depression they could not pay, the government should hesitate before supplying cheap farm labor to Minnesota or any other state. By providing this labor, the government will enable the farmers to produce more for a market that will not consume their produce and their later state will be worse than their former.

This is another of the remedies proposed to help the farmer, and the proposal, while it would relieve the shortage of competent agricultural laborers, would invite the farmer to sow an increased acreage with the result already mentioned. Just at the time when this proposal is made a business man who looks at the whole question from the standpoint of business economics suggests that some farmers go into industrial plants and become consumers of the produce of those who remain on the land.

All kinds of theories are submitted to help the farmer, and many of them would not aid him one little bit, nor can we see how this one would. It seems to suggest a circle; more laborers, more crops, flooded markets, a release of the laborers engaged in agriculture and an increase in the unemployed in the cities. It is not an advantage to the farmer to supply him with labor that he does not need to supply the market. It is not of advantage to labor to bring in immigrants to force down the cost of labor, when with the labor at hand the farmer is producing more than the market will consume, and it is not good for America to bring in men who will be disappointed by what they find here, who through their disappointment will become enemies of the republic. More men are made communists by conditions than by propaganda. When conditions plow furrows in a man's forehead his head is receptive to communist or any other radical propaganda.

KILLING THE GOOSE THAT LAYS THE GOLDEN EGGS

THERE is an old adage that says something about killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. What it stands for is often done by intelligent people and those who read of their doings cannot quite see evidence of their intelligence. And yet it is done. France is doing it in the Ruhr, where, it is said, the cost of maintaining her hold of this valley was forty million dollars in six months. Nations that refuse to trade with other nations are doing it, and groups and individuals are forever killing this wealth-producing bird.

It is announced that the Illinois Manufacturers association

intends to call a meeting to make plans for killing the goose. The manufacturers are grieved because labor is receiving high wages which they claim are the maximum part of the cost of what the farmer buys, and, therefore, they plan to force down wages so that the farmer may purchase what he needs at a reduced cost. The wisdom of such a program does not appear on the surface. If the farmer buys equipment cheaper he will buy more of it, and surely he does not need to produce more than he is at this time and this would be a natural tendency with more efficient machinery for doing the work. Again, the farmer depends very largely on the consumption of the American public, and it is predicted that he will depend more upon this in the future than he has in the past. If this is true, the workers, who are the mass of the American public, must have money if they are to buy the farmers' products. One would think after reading such a proposal that the workers of the nation were insignificant when considered as consumers of agricultural produce, when the fact is that they are the consumers. A millionaire eats no more than a ditch-digger; the only difference in consumption lies in the fact that the millionaire often consumes imported foodstuffs that lend variety to his menu and do not help the American farmer to dispose of his surplus.

One of the silliest theories ever propounded is the theory that the farmer will be helped if the wages of labor are reduced. Of course it will be said that a laborer's wage, which is above that required to afford existence, is not spent in buying agricultural produce but in luxuries. There is something to the argument, as there is to the fact that a millionaire eats no more, and spends no more for what he buys from the farmer, because his income has been raised from one million to two. It cannot be denied that a laborer's family spends much more on agricultural produce when his wages are high than they do when they are low. There are too many men, who have had a very low wage on which they have attempted to exist, and whose standard of living has been raised by an increase in wages, for such a proposal to get far in America. Such propagandists must think that the American people are fools, while their own economic intelligence is not shining forth very brightly in such cleverly camouflaged propaganda which would use the farmer's discontent to cut the farmer's own throat, in an economic sense.

BOWLING, an old English sport, is in vogue in American parks. It may win a few fans over here but it won't set the public wild; like cricket it's too slow for the American temperament.

A HOMEY woman is to pay the death penalty in Chicago—because she is a homely woman. They didn't convict good looking ones.

YOUNG folks don't propose any more, it is said; they just marry.

The story of a girl who was known as a sweet and alluring blonde horse-woman by the sweetheart who rode with her in the forenoon north of the Rio Grande; and as a seductive brunette seniorita by the sinister frequenters of a suspicious cantina in which she flitted in the evenings south of the border.

In danger of losing her sweetheart's love should he discover her dual personality—for she could not explain her motive; in danger of losing her life should the others discover her deception.

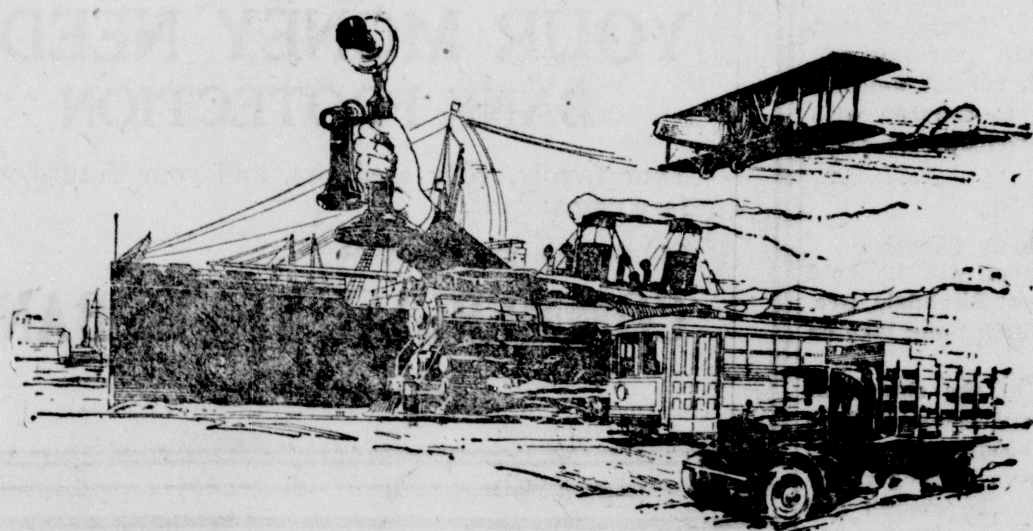

Yet risking all—for what?

For you and us, perhaps—or maybe those we love—as you will learn when you see this amazing picture. You are concerned. You will applaud this girl. And you will remember this picture as long as memory lasts.

Modern Servants

Every Twentieth Century machine has its part in serving man in a better way than he was served before.

But if you had to do without all but one of the modern inventions, which one would you keep?

To realize the value of the telephone to all of us in our every day business and social life, we have only to glance back a comparatively few years and recall what we did when there were no telephones.

Of all modern conveniences, the telephone is perhaps without an equal in the service provided, which is many times greater than the price charged.

PROF. WILSON KNEW PRES. HARDING WELL

Dates Back When Harding Was a Student of Ohio Central College, Iberia, Ohio

WILSON GRADUATED IN 1876

Recalls President as a Clean Cut, Fine Appearing Young Fellow

While the death of President Warren G. Harding came as a severe shock to everyone in Brainerd, still two local citizens were perhaps more affected than any others.

Prof. J. A. Wilson, 512 North Fourth street knew the president when that distinguished citizen was a lad of 16 years, and a student of Ohio Central College, at Iberia, Ohio, in the year 1881.

Prof. Wilson himself graduated from the same college in 1876, and states that President Harding received his diploma ten years later. Mr. Wilson held the chair of mathematics in the school, and his wife conducted the rooming house in connection.

During the winter of 1880-1881 Mr. Wilson left the college to accept a position as city superintendent of schools at Loraine, Ohio, but Mrs. Wilson stayed in Iberia and completed the school year at the rooming house, and it was during the last three months of this time that President Harding roomed at this place.

Prof. Wilson recalls that the young man seemed old for his years. He was a clean-cut, fine appearing young fellow, and possessed that quality of grasping a situation as clearly as anyone the professor had ever met.

Mrs. Ella McMahon, who conducts a hemstitching and picotting establishment at the Kracher Millinery, is also closely connected with the administration, but with the incoming president, since Calvin Coolidge is her second cousin.

Mrs. McMahon had planned a trip to Washington last spring, at which time she had hoped to meet her distinguished relative, whom she has never seen but once, when Mr. Coolidge spoke at the Minnesota State Fair a year ago.

County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy Gives Out Road Information

SAND ROADS NEED RAIN

On State Road No. 4, Account Bridge Building, Detour Mapped Out

For the benefit of Brainerd tourists who are planning drives for Sunday, County Highway Engineer, Walter M. Murphy, gives out the following road information, concerning the roads in the county under his supervision:

State Road No. 1 (13th St. road to Morrison county line.) First six miles good, balance to county line, excellent.

State Road No. 2 (Dewey Highway, east and west through southern tier of townships in county.) Good condition generally, though narrow. Hard, traveling surface.

State Road No. 3 (Brainerd, Merrifield and north). Ash Ave. and Mill street, good; from bridge to Merrifield, a little rough, next 6 miles to Ossipee, good, balance of way to Cross Lake, excellent, to Emily, good.

State Road No. 4. (Crosby to Emily) Crosby to Mississippi river bridge, good, clay road, hard and smooth. Take old bridge, new structure under construction. 3½ miles north from bridge, good. Detour by old road to Fairfield town line, fair, to Emily, excellent. North to Cass county line, good.

State Road No. 5. (Deerwood-Bay lake). Deerwood to Bay lake, good; Bay lake to Flint corner on state highway No. 18, good.

White line roads in northern part of the county, being sandy, are suffering from need of rain. In the southern section of the county, through clay country, they are in very good shape. Good rains would improve the roads in every section.

TEMPLE CARTER

Duluth's Popular Cellist Will Appear at Lyceum Theatre for Week End

Lyceum patrons, who were disappointed in not seeing Temple Carter, Duluth's popular young cellist, last Saturday and Sunday, will be glad to know that this musician will positively appear this week-end. It was only a severe illness which kept him from keeping the engagement last week.

Temple Carter is a cellist of much promise, and is very popular in Duluth musical circles. The cello, like the violin, is always in demand, and fills a place that no other musical instrument can. Mr. Carter has that rare ability of bringing out all the richness of its mellow tones, as only an artist is able to do.

With Temple Carter will be seen two feature pictures, one on Saturday, the other on Sunday. Tom Moore and Mary Miles Minter, in the "Cowboy and the Lady," is an unusual western romance in Saturday's bill.

On Sunday, the "sighed-about" Gloria Swanson in a Paramount picture, "The Gilded Cage" comes to captivate Brainerd theatregoers. Miss Swanson is one of the most popular screen stars of the day, and is always a strong drawing card wherever her pictures are shown.

Brainerd Country Club Making Preparations to Attend Golf Tournament There

LITTLE FALLS MAY COME TOO

Brainerd Players Leave Early so as to Take Dinner in St. Cloud

Members of the Brainerd Country Club are making preparations for their pilgrimage to St. Cloud Sunday, when they will play off a tournament with the fast team from that city's club.

Some ten or twelve of the local golf enthusiasts have already signified their intention of making the trip, and it is hoped that many more will plan to go, as a good representative number from Brainerd will make a favorable impression on the down-river city.

It may be possible that a number of Little Falls golfers will also be on the scene, which would add materially to the attendance.

Brainerd players will leave the city at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, and will take dinner in St. Cloud. Play will start promptly at 1 o'clock, so that the tournament may be over in ample time to drive home late in the afternoon or early evening.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Slocum of St. Paul were in the city Friday. Mr. Slocum is a Federal Highway engineer, and in company with County Highway Engineer, Walter M. Murphy, inspected the roads of this county, with special attention to those that have been treated with marl. He was very favorably impressed with his findings.

County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy Gives Out Road Information

SAND ROADS NEED RAIN

On State Road No. 4, Account Bridge Building, Detour Mapped Out

For the benefit of Brainerd tourists who are planning drives for Sunday, County Highway Engineer, Walter M. Murphy, gives out the following road information, concerning the roads in the county under his supervision:

State Road No. 1 (13th St. road to Morrison county line.) First six miles good, balance to county line, excellent.

State Road No. 2 (Dewey Highway, east and west through southern tier of townships in county.) Good condition generally, though narrow. Hard, traveling surface.

State Road No. 3. (Brainerd, Merrifield, north.) Ash Ave. and Mill street, good; from bridge to Merrifield, a little rough, next 6 miles to Ossipee, good, balance of way to Cross Lake, excellent, to Emily, good.

State Road No. 4. (Crosby to Emily) Crosby to Mississippi river bridge, good, clay road, hard and smooth. Take old bridge, new structure under construction. 3½ miles north from bridge, good. Detour by old road to Fairfield town line, fair, to Emily, excellent. North to Cass county line, good.

State Road No. 5. (Deerwood-Bay lake.) Deerwood to Bay lake, good; Bay lake to Flint corner on state highway No. 18, good.

White line roads in northern part of the county, being sandy, are suffering from need of rain. In the southern section of the county, through clay country, they are in very good shape. Good rains would improve the roads in every section.

July 10—Gust Saxvold and Beret Ostby.

July 14—Victor Lasher and Irene Crowell.

July 14—Arthur G. Pernie and Martha Fickl.

July 14—Henry Stefan and Vera Engberg.

July 16—Lewis Arthur LaFoe and Edna Nellie Engelbreton.

July 17—Charles J. Borden and Esther E. Krueger.

July 23—Alfred E. Holst and Lila E. Nelson.

July 23—Arthur Gebhart, Dakota County, and Jessie Neil Bame.

July 23—Samuel Pierce Sparks and Olga Josephine Anderson.

July 23—Clarence Martin and Rose Thorpe.

July 23—True Doten and Lillian Sullivan.

July 25—Howard J. Glanville and Agnes Wilkinson.

July 28—Lawrence V. Pelto and Pearl M. Kramer.

July 28—Earl Reuter and Leila Madge Pollock.

July 30—Henry F. Bredekamp and Emma R. Bachler, both of Seward, Nebraska.

July 30—Ray Fenstermacher and Obeline Veillette.

Meaning Clear.

Richard had been ill, and although better now, was still in bed and required constant nursing. He called to his mother, but she happened to be busy and could not come, whereupon the lad began to sob as if his heart would break, wailing over and over again, "Nobody loves me but myself; nobody loves me but myself."

To Polish Silver.

If a quantity of silver is to be cleaned try this method: Mix sweet oil and whiting to a smooth, creamy paste. Apply with a flannel cloth. Allow it to stand until dry. Polish first with cotton flannel, then with chamols. This method will not eat or injure the silver plating.

TEMPLE CARTER

Duluth's Popular Cellist Will Appear at Lyceum Theatre for Week End

Lyceum patrons, who were disappointed in not seeing Temple Carter, Duluth's popular young cellist, last Saturday and Sunday, will be glad to know that this musician will positively appear this week-end. It was only a severe illness which kept him from keeping the engagement last week.

Temple Carter is a cellist of much promise, and is very popular in Duluth musical circles. The cello, like the violin, is always in demand, and fills a place that no other musical instrument can. Mr. Carter has that rare ability of bringing out all the richness of its mellow tones, as only an artist is able to do.

With Temple Carter will be seen two feature pictures, one on Saturday, the other on Sunday. Tom Moore and Mary Miles Minter, in the "Cowboy and the Lady," is an unusual western romance in Saturday's bill.

On Sunday, the "sighed-about" Gloria Swanson in a Paramount picture, "The Gilded Cage" comes to captivate Brainerd theatregoers. Miss Swanson is one of the most popular screen stars of the day, and is always a strong drawing card wherever her pictures are shown.

PILGRIMAGE TO ST. CLOUD

Brainerd Country Club Making Preparations to Attend Golf Tournament There

LITTLE FALLS MAY COME TOO

Brainerd Players Leave Early so as to Take Dinner in St. Cloud

Members of the Brainerd Country Club are making preparations for their pilgrimage to St. Cloud Sunday, when they will play off a tournament with the fast team from that city's club.

Some ten or twelve of the local golf enthusiasts have already signified their intention of making the trip, and it is hoped that many more will plan to go, as a good representative number from Brainerd will make a favorable impression on the down-river city.

It may be possible that a number of Little Falls golfers will also be on the scene, which would add materially to the attendance.

Brainerd players will leave the city at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, and will take dinner in St. Cloud. Play will start promptly at 1 o'clock, so that the tournament may be over in ample time to drive home late in the afternoon or early evening.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Slocum of St. Paul were in the city Friday. Mr. Slocum is a Federal Highway engineer, and in company with County Highway Engineer, Walter M. Murphy, inspected the roads of this county, with special attention to those that have been treated with marl. He was very favorably impressed with his findings.

Rose Creek, Aug. 4.—The funeral train bearing the remains of President Harding passed through here at 10:16 this morning, Pacific time, running on schedule. The tracks were lined with people on foot and in vehicles who came for miles to see the train pass.

PASSED THROUGH WINNEMUCCA, NEVADA

Winnemucca, Nev., Aug. 4.—The train bearing the casket containing the body of the late President Harding passed through Winnemucca at 10:32 a. m. without pausing. Seven vehicles who came for miles to see train pass.

Marble.

Marble is a product of marine sediments and volcanic fires. It is laid down on the sea bottom as shell heaps, which gradually turn into chalk. If the strata should be deeply buried in the rocks, the intense heat of the earth causes chemical elements to rearrange themselves so that they crystallize into marble. Various impurities in the chalk give the marble its various hues.

BRITISH TENNIS DUBBED 'GRANDFATHERLY'

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Aug. 4.—While 1923 may have been the year of big busts for champions, several headlines of sports have successfully survived the test of the year and will be back next year defending their titles.

Foremost, perhaps, of the super-champions who have passed the 1923 test safely, is Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the queen of the world's tennis court.

The great French girl, who says she has completely recovered her health, ran away so far with the championship at Wimbledon that her game encouraged the tennis experts of "Sporting Life" (London) to write:

"If anything Suzanne is better than she ever was. Can she improve? If she does, what hope is there of recovering the championship for perhaps another fifteen years?"

Enthusiasm over the form shown by the French girl, the ease with which she walked through the tournament and the possible dearth of material in England may have aroused enthusiasm to the point of exaggeration in estimating the length of Suzanne's reign as queen of the courts.

Age and increasing years do not exact the penalty among tennis players with the same severity suffered by other athletes. Brookes remained a star until he was an "old man" and several of the star women players of the United States "carry on" long past the age when the average athlete could have been counted on as having passed the peak.

Disregarding the promise shown by Miss Helen Wills, the California girl star, it is only logical to figure that Mlle. Lenglen is not a champion for an indefinite period.

The French girl, regardless of what was said about her heart when she retired at Forest Hills two years ago, is none too strong and she has had a very strenuous career on the courts. She may retain her strokes and her technique, but her physical resources cannot go on forever.

Little Helen Wills is building a strong game of distinctive masculine style, due to the fact that she learned the game and developed it against male opposition. She is developing great strength and unless the experts are all wrong, the time in years can be counted on one hand when she becomes the champion.

England, beyond doubt, feels chagrined at the loss of national tennis prestige in a sport that is almost as distinctively British as golf.

Victories of Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen and that great little American sportsman, Bill Johnston, in the singles at Wimbledon, took away again both the British titles and they caused it to be asked with some concern—"What is the matter with British tennis?"

The same writer in "Sporting Life," who paid tribute to the game of Mlle. Lenglen, advances the following theories in answer:

"It is the cult of the hard court which has been responsible for the loss of our supremacy at game which was invented by an Englishman. The hard court has reared a series of foreign and colonial champions, who have gained their successes mainly by taking of the ball on the top of its bound.

"Nearly all of best men are tainted with the theory of base-line perpetual motion and what use is it when pitted against the modern school? Did it affect Tilden, worry Patterson, or threaten Johnston?"

"All these three world's champions thrived on this warfare of attrition and regarded it with the scorn and the contempt that it so richly deserves. Their whole game is full of virility and the devil. We have heard enough about grandmotherly legislation. How about grandmotherly lawn tennis?"

"The means by which our pre-war champions held their way are now, like the old fashioned gunboat, out of date and fit only for the scrap heap. They had to angle for their openings in a weary and exhausting way. The new champions angle for no openings. They simply hit the balls and mighty hard too.

"Champions are now bred on hard or sun-baked grass courts and not on uneven surfaces, such as are experienced in this country."

Vinnie Richards, who won his way into the British hearts, lost during the Wimbledon tournament because of his inability to hit hard off the ground, in the opinion of the same writer. "His great volleying certainly merited a partial success," he commented.

BASEBALL, ROWING POSTPONED ON DAY OF HARDING FUNERAL

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis has issued the following statement:

"It is the sentiment throughout baseball that no game be played either Friday or on the day of the funeral of the late president and as a further mark of respect to his memory flags at all ball parks will be displayed at half mast until after the burial."

The announcement from Landis' office came after many league presidents, including Thomas J. Hickey of the American Association, Ban Johnson of the American League, and R. N. Tarnsey of the Western and Three I leagues, had already made similar announcements in behalf of their own leagues. President Heydler of the National League had not postponed games today, but had ordered that all games scheduled for the day of the funeral be canceled, that the players wear mourning bands until after that time and that all league flags stand at half mast for 30 days.

The order of Judge Landis, however, will cause uniform observation of the death of baseball's most distinguished fan in all organized baseball.

Heydler Calls Harding Best Fan
Pittsburgh, Aug. 4.—President Heydler sent a message to Mrs. Harding in which he expressed the sympathy of the National league and declared that baseball never had a better friend than Mr. Harding.

It had been President Harding's custom in Washington to attend the opening baseball game of the season when permitted by affairs of state. His interest in baseball as a red-blooded American pastime was illustrated by one of his last remarks, it was reported, when he was said to have shown his interest in the Cincinnati National League club:

"How did the Reds come out today?"

Oarsmen Postpone Regatta Opening

Helene Chadwick and George Cooper in "Quicksands"

Richard Dix Again Appears Opposite Helene Chadwick at the Park on Saturday and Sunday

Admirers of Richard Dix will share his enthusiasm for the role he plays in "Quicksands," the Howard Hawks picture which comes to the New Park Theatre tonight and Sunday. Besides the popular leading man, the cast is further enhanced by Helene Chadwick, Alan Hale, Noah Beery, J. Farrell McDonald, George Cooper, Walter Long, Edwin Stevens, Frank Campeau, Jean Hersholt, Dick Sutherland and others equally distinguished for strong acting.

He is First Lieutenant of a military post near the Mexican border and is in love with the right girl. On one of his visits of inspection to a "cantina" across the boundary in Mexico—a resort frequented by drug smugglers—he sees a Mexican belle mingling with the sinister crowd and is struck by her beauty and her curious resemblance to the girl who has promised to marry him. In time he penetrates her disguise and learns that the girl masquerading as one of the evil-doers is really his sweetheart. He cannot forgive the deception. She is aiding the nefarious traffic, he thinks, and so gives her up and resigns his commission, that he may go away and forget.

But when the girl, now in a desperate plight because of her discovery as an American spy by the Mexicans, telegraphs the post for aid, he cannot remain indifferent to her need for him. And so he goes to the cantina.

The Cornell University Orchestra at the New Park Tonight and Sunday

An extraordinary high class vaudeville act, the Cornell University Jazz Orchestra, has been procured for the entertainment of the patrons of the New Park tonight and Sunday. This orchestra plays many popular numbers in the subdued, rich type of jazz which is usually played at the college fraternity and sorority dances. A big special picture, "Quicksands," will also be shown. This big double bill at regular prices.

Gloria Swanson and David Powell in a scene from the Paramount Picture "Her Gilded Cage"

Gloria Swanson Wears Alluring Costumes in Her New Paramount Picture

Gloria Swanson, Paramount star, whose beautiful gowns worn in her screen productions have made her the fashion model of the screen, is not limited to stately, formal fashion creations in her Paramount picture, "Her Gilded Cage," which will be the big feature at the Lyceum Theatre Sunday and Monday.

Miss Swanson first appears in this story as a poor French dancer, later is seen in the modestly colorful costumes of a cafe entertainer, and then blossoms forth, under the guidance of an American press agent, as "Fleur d'Amour," the dance sensation of the season.

"The Cowboy and the Lady" Wins
An enthusiastic audience at the Lyceum Theatre last evening greeted the first appearance of Mary Miles

Minter and Tom Moore in a Paramount picture. Both of these versatile artists have been seen in this city on many occasions, but "The Cowboy and the Lady" marks their first appearance together in a Paramount production.

The picture is a stirring drama of the West, based on Clyde Fitch's famous play. A faithful wife forces her husband to accompany her to their ranch in the west in the hope that the open spaces will reform him. But there are "other women" out there and trouble follows. Later there comes onto the scene a real man, who unselfishly shoulders the burden of a crime to save the wife, whom he loves. From then onwards things happen with swiftness, and the outcome is quite satisfactory. It will be shown again tonight, and Mr. Temple Carter, Duluth's popular young cellist, will also appear in person.

Rest Required in Tennis

Ten minutes' rest after the third set of a man's tennis match and after the second set of a woman's match is the requirement of the international code. The rest period may be waived by a nation, but not in Davis cup competition.

BRITISH TENNIS DUBBED 'GRANDFATHERLY'

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Aug. 4.—While 1923 may have been the year of big busts for champions, several headliners of sports have successfully survived the test of the year and will be back next year defending their titles.

Foremost, perhaps, of the super-champions who have passed the 1923 test safely, is Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the queen of the world's tennis court. The great French girl, who says she has completely recovered her health, ran away so far with the championship at Wimbledon that her game encouraged the tennis experts of "Sporting Life" (London) to write:

"If anything Suzanne is better than she ever was. Can she improve? If she does, what hope is there of recovering the championship for perhaps another fifteen years?"

Enthusiasm over the form shown by the French girl, the ease with which she walked through the tournament and the possible dearth of material in England may have aroused enthusiasm to the point of exaggeration in estimating the length of Suzanne's reign as queen of the courts.

Age and increasing years do not exact the penalty among tennis players with the same severity suffered by other athletes. Brookes remained a star until he was an "old man" and several of the star women players of the United States "carry on" long past the age when the average athlete could have been counted on as having passed the peak.

Disregarding the promise shown by Miss Helen Wills, the California girl star, it is only logical to figure that Mlle. Lenglen is not a champion for an indefinite period.

The French girl, regardless of what was said about her heart when she retired at Forest Hills two years ago, is none too strong and she has had a very strenuous career on the courts. She may retain her strokes and her technique, but her physical resources cannot go on forever.

Little Helen Wills is building a strong game of distinctive masculine style, due to the fact that she learned the game and developed it against male opposition. She is developing great strength and unless the experts are all wrong, the time in years can be counted on one hand when she becomes the champion.

England, beyond doubt, feels chagrined at the loss of national tennis prestige in a sport that is almost as distinctively British as golf.

Victories of Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen and that great little American sportsman, Bill Johnston, in the singles at Wimbledon, took away again both the British titles and they caused it to be asked with some concern—"What is the matter with British tennis?"

The same writer in "Sporting Life," who paid tribute to the game of Mlle. Lenglen, advances the following theories in answer:

"It is the cult of the hard court which has been responsible for the loss of our supremacy at game which was invented by an Englishman. The hard court has reared a series of foreign and colonial champions, who have gained their successes mainly by taking of the ball on the top of its bound.

"Nearly all of best men are tainted with the theory of base-line perpetual motion and what use is it when pitted against the modern school? Did it affect Tilden, worry Patterson, or threaten Johnston?"

"All these three world's champions thrived on this warfare of attrition and regarded it with the scorn and the contempt that it so richly deserves. Their whole game is full of virility and the devil. We have heard enough about grandmotherly legislation. How about grandmotherly lawn tennis?"

"The means by which our pre-war champions held their sway are now, like the old fashioned gunboat, out of date and fit only for the scrap heap. They had to angle for their openings in a weary and exhausting way. The new champions angle for no openings. They simply hit the balls and mighty hard too.

"Champions are now bred on hard or sun-baked grass courts and not on uneven surfaces, such as are experienced in this country."

Vinnie Richards, who won his way into the British hearts, lost during the Wimbledon tournament because of his inability to hit hard off the ground, in the opinion of the same writer. "His great volleying certainly merited a partial success," he commented.

BASEBALL, ROWING POSTPONED ON DAY HARDING FUNERAL

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis has issued the following statement:

"It is the sentiment throughout baseball that no game be played either Friday or on the day of the funeral of the late president and as a further mark of respect to his memory flags at all ball parks will be displayed at half mast until after the burial."

The announcement from Landis' office came after many league presidents, including Thomas J. Hickey of the American Association, Ban Johnson of the American League, and R. N. Tearney of the Western and Three I leagues, had already made similar announcements in behalf of their own leagues. President Heydler of the National league had not postponed games today, but had ordered that all games scheduled for the day of the funeral be canceled, that the players wear mourning bands until after that time and that all league flags stand at half mast for 30 days.

The order of Judge Landis, however, will cause uniform observation of the death of baseball's most distinguished fan in all organized baseball.

Wisconsin Veteran Champ Defending Title

Milwaukee, Aug. 4.—A veteran champion, whose iron play is nearly perfect, is defending his title today against the rushing game of the leading player in the younger ranks of Wisconsin golf in the final event of the annual state golf championship over 36 holes on the Blue Mound course.

E. P. (Ned) Allis, Milwaukee, six times champion, and Billy Sixty, also of Milwaukee, are battling for the honors.

Tapoca From Poison Root.

Few people who enjoy tapoca pudding realize that they are eating a product of the poisonous cassava root. In its natural state this root is extremely bitter and harmful because of the hydrocyanic acid that it contains, but when heated it becomes palatable and its poisonous qualities are readily dissipated.—Popular Science Monthly.

Helene Chadwick and George Cooper in "Quicksands"

Richard Dix Again Appears Opposite Helene Chadwick at the Park on Saturday and Sunday

Admirers of Richard Dix will share his enthusiasm for the role he plays in "Quicksands," the Howard Hawks picture which comes to the New Park Theatre tonight and Sunday. Besides the popular leading man, the cast is further enhanced by Helene Chadwick, Alan Hale, Noah Beery, J. Farrell McDonald, George Cooper, Walter Long, Edwin Stevens, Frank Campeau, Jean Hersholt, Dick Sutherland and others equally distinguished for strong acting.

He is First Lieutenant of a military post near the Mexican border and is in love with the right girl. On one of his visits of inspection to a "cantina" across the boundary in Mexico—a resort frequented by drug smugglers—he sees a Mexican belle mingling with the sinister crowd and is struck by her beauty and her curious resemblance to the girl who has promised to marry him. In time he penetrates her disguise and learns that the girl masquerading as one of the evil-doers is really his sweetheart. He cannot forgive the deception. She is aiding the nefarious traffic, he thinks, and so gives her up and resigns his commission, that he may go away and forget.

But when the girl, now in a desperate plight because of her discovery as an American spy by the Mexicans, telegraphs the post for aid, he cannot remain indifferent to her need for him. And so he goes to the cantina.

The Cornell University Orchestra at the New Park Tonight and Sunday

An extraordinary high class vaudeville act, the Cornell University Jazz Orchestra, has been procured for the entertainment of the patrons of the New Park tonight and Sunday. This orchestra plays many popular numbers in the subdued, rich type of jazz which is usually played at the college fraternity and sorority dances. A big special picture, "Quicksands," will also be shown. This big double bill at regular prices.

Gloria Swanson and David Powell in a Scene from the Paramount Picture "Her Gilded Cage"

Gloria Swanson Wears Alluring Costumes in Her New Paramount Picture

Gloria Swanson, Paramount star, whose beautiful gowns worn in her screen productions have made her the fashion model of the screen, is not limited to stately, formal fashion creations in her Paramount picture, "Her Gilded Cage," which will be the big feature at the Lyceum Theatre Sunday and Monday.

Miss Swanson first appears in this story as a poor French dancer, later is seen in the modestly colorful costumes of a cafe entertainer, and then blossoms forth, under the guidance of an American press agent, as "Fleur d'Amour," the dance sensation of the season.

"The Cowboy and the Lady" Wins

An enthusiastic audience at the Lyceum Theatre last evening greeted the first appearance of Mary Miles

Minter and Tom Moore in a Paramount picture. Both of these versatile artists have been seen in this city on many occasions, but "The Cowboy and the Lady" marks their first appearance together in a Paramount production.

The picture is a stirring drama of the West, based on Clyde Fitch's famous play. A faithful wife forces her husband to accompany her to their ranch in the west in the hope that the open spaces will reform him. But there are "other women" out there and trouble follows. Later there comes onto the scene a real man, who unselfishly shoulders the burden of a crime to save the wife, whom he loves. From then onwards things happen with swift and the outcome is quite satisfactory. It will be shown again tonight, and Mr. Temple Carter, Dulluth's popular young cellist, will appear in person.
